Mark Vassella, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer

"While, at the start of CY18 demand in the domestic economy is favourable, businesses still can't waste any opportunity to reduce costs. But they must also seek sustainable growth, if they are to remain relevant and competitive. Likewise, it's crucial that government policies don't add costs to or hinder Australia's businesses with red or green tape. Australia is a great place to do business, to employ people and make a contribution – we must bolster that, not undermine it - if we are to compete against global competition."

BlueScope Steel is the leading steel company in Australia and New Zealand, supplying a large percentage of all flat steel products sold in these markets. The company's products play a big part in people's everyday lives, being vital components in suburban houses, landmark buildings and structures and popular makes of cars.

Tony Dragicevich, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer

"Stronger anti-dumping measures are key to the survival of parts of Australian manufacturing. Existing measures are being flagrantly abused and because of this Manufacturing Australia will continue to call on the Government to do more to help local manufacturers fight cheap imports from Asia."

Capral is Australia's largest manufacturer and distributor of aluminium profiles. An Australian company, they commenced operations in 1936 and today, have a national footprint of world-class aluminium extrusion plants. Capral employ 900 people around Australia and are a market leader in supply to fabricators and distributors, focusing on the Residential, Commercial and Industrial segments.

Brian Lowe, Managing Director and CEO, Orora Ltd

"All Australians will benefit if our country's manufacturing organisations thrive over the medium and longer term. The critical work that Manufacturing Australia is undertaking on behalf of over one million people the sector employs, aims to bring all stakeholders together to create a policy environment that supports this vision. With this support, we see a strong and sustainable future for a sector that will make a positive contribution to the Australian economy and way of life for many years to come."

Orora Ltd is headquartered in Melbourne, Australia. The company was created in 2013 after Amcor, one of the world's largest packaging companies with a 150 year history in Australia, demerged their Australasian and Packaging Distributions businesses. For more information visit www.ororagroup.com

Rheem

WEB

Chris Taylor, Rheem Chief Executive Officer

From humble beginnings in 1936 when The Rheem Manufacturing Co. (Australia) Proprietary Limited was incorporated, Rheem has grown in reputation to be synonymous with excellence, reliability, innovation and for delivery "steady hot and strong" water heating to Australians.

For over 75 years, Rheem has remained at the forefront of manufacturing technology and is today Australia's largest manufacturer of gas, electric, heat pump and solar water heaters for domestic, commercial and large scale project applications.

Rheem Australia employs over 1000 Australians directly and is the name behind many household brands such as Rheem, Vulcan, Aquamax and Solahart.

Tomago Aluminium Company is an independently managed joint venture and is Australasia's largest primary aluminium smelter. Annual production is 593,000 tonnes of billet, slab and ingot, 95% of which is exported, mainly to Asia-Pacific markets. With direct employment of ~1,100 personnel and revenues of ~$1.5 billion, Tomago Aluminium is a major economic contributor to the Hunter Valley economy and the state of NSW. Tomago Aluminium is the largest single load electricity user in the country, consuming some 970 MW or ~10% of NSW average demand. It also provides essential grid security services to the Australian Energy Market Operator through the provision of emergency load interruptibility.
